1.The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese Kokai 2-182,433 in view of Japanese document 8-221,812 and either of Rowland or Hannan et al for reasons of record.

2.Applicant's arguments filed April 24, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant submits that Japanese –812 does not show making a hole in a web and that it cannot be combined with the primary reference. Such is not persuasive. First of all, the injection step provides a full cavity of melted resin in Japanese –812 and the punch moves the resin in the hole (delimited by part numerals 53 and 102) out of the cavity and into the nozzle 91. Hence, the reference does indeed teach using a punch 80 to make a hole in what would constitute a web of molten material during the embossing thereof by stamper 100. See Figure 9 of Japanese –812. The instant claims require no more than this. Also, bodily incorporation is not necessary when determining obviousness. While structure of Japanese –812 may not be capable of physical incorporation into the stamper of Japanese –433, such would not obviate the finding of obviousness. It is well known to make center holes in digital disks and one of ordinary skill in the art would have known such from Japanese –812.

3.THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
